

Commercial Disputes Lawyer (m/f/d)

Quinn Emanuel's London office is hiring.

Are you a commercial disputes lawyer working or thinking of coming to work in London? Do you want to work on fascinating bet-the-company cases, earning a top-of-the-market salary, in a global elite litigation-only firm? Join us!

Here at Quinn Emanuel, we believe two things. First, every case is a team effort, with every lawyer contributing regardless of hierarchy or seniority. Second, every associate should gain the broadest possible experience in litigation and international arbitration. Elite young lawyers come to us from the Bar and other top law firms in London because they know they will work on exciting cases involving complex legal issues for some of the world's best-known companies. And they come because we judge lawyers by their ability, not by the year they qualified.

We are looking for:

- 1-6 years post admission disputes experience
- England & Wales qualification
- At least a 2:1 (or equivalent) degree from a top university
- Top-tier law firm or chambers experience

Note: we only will consider trainees who already have an offer from a disputes team in their Firm.

If you meet the criteria and would be interested in joining our London team, please contact Isabel Andrews, Office Manager at londonrecruitment@quinnemanuel.com

»A GLOBAL FORCE IN BUSINESS LITIGATION«
The Wall Street Journal